"Ron is widely respected as an authoritative strategist and has been an insightful voice for our business for more than two decades," said Kenneth M. Jacobs, Chairman and

Chief Executive Officer of Lazard. "He has built strong relationships with Asset Management's global client franchise and his macroeconomic and market insights have been a true differentiator."

Since joining Lazard Asset Management in 2001, Mr. Temple has held several high-profile investment and client-facing roles, including analyst and co-director of global research. Most recently, he has overseen U.S. equity and global equity strategies as well as Lazard's Multi-Asset platform. Prior to Lazard, Mr. Temple spent 10 years in a variety of financial services roles, including fixed-income derivatives trading, risk management, corporate finance, and corporate strategy. He has a Master in Public Policy from Harvard University and a B.A. in Economics and Public Policy from Duke University. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the Economic Club of New York, the CFA Society New York, and is the chair of Duke University's Graduate School Board of Visitors.
