Inclusion of information in this report is not an indication that we deem such information to be material or important to an understanding of our business or an investment decision with respect to our securities.
Lazard performed a materiality assessment in 2018 to prioritize environmental, social and governance (ESG) topics of importance to our stakeholders and to our business, including our long-term strategy. The results of this ESG materiality assessment are highlighted below and correspond to sections in this report, which provide more detailed disclosures on our management approach, highlights and key metrics.
When the COVID-19 pandemic took hold last year, the sudden reduction in people’s travel habits created startling images of a world with a reduced carbon footprint – from clear waters in Venice canals to blue skies over formerly smog-choked cities. Similarly, businesses’ responses to travel restrictions have showed ways of working more efficiently and more sustainably, on a much faster timetable than anyone had imagined. The global health crisis continues to create unprecedented challenges, yet it has also revealed unexpected paths toward a more sustainable future.

More efficient ways of working
Lazard, like many of our clients, quickly adapted to virtual meetings in early 2020 and maintained our productivity even as the majority of our people worked from home. Business travel has begun to rebound, but we expect our air miles per capita will remain lower thanks to the growing use of videoconferencing.

The traditional office-centric workplace will also change. As more of our people return to the office, we are planning a “coordinated hybrid” model that blends the best of office and remote working. Giving our people more flexibility in where and how they work will benefit them, their families and Lazard—and the environment, as overall commuting hours decline.

Conscious community building
Ironically, the experience of being physically apart for more than a year brought the Lazard community closer together. To counteract the disruptive effects of lockdown, our people conceived myriad ways to stay connected, from guest speaker events to global athletic challenges to talent exhibitions. Our affinity groups swelled with members and allies, initiating dialogues and activities that fostered greater understanding.

We also expanded our mental health awareness programs and adapted new protocols to better align work and life balance for people working from home. Our increased focus on community and well-being will remain as we pivot back to the office.

Increasing our local involvement
The economic impact of the pandemic has highlighted wealth disparities around the world, including the lack of meaningful career opportunities for too many young people. Building on Lazard’s long history of public service, during the past year we stepped up our local involvement in cities around the world, with new and expanded programs focused on food relief, education and career preparation for students from under-resourced neighborhoods, as well as other charitable initiatives. Our people led the way by identifying worthy causes and partners and generously volunteering their time, which we support with the firm’s resources.

The world today still faces immense challenges, but we are encouraged by the scientific and technological innovations that are helping to fight the pandemic, and by the growing consensus around the need for sustainable and inclusive long-term economic growth. We believe that Lazard’s commitment to sustainable business practices complements our mission of providing trusted financial advice and investment solutions for clients, and that it will continue to benefit all of our stakeholders. Our Corporate Sustainability Report provides a view to our progress.

Lazard creates belonging, individual value and optimal collaboration.

The value of diversity is ingrained in our culture and reflects our multi-cultural heritage. As a global firm that has grown organically from local roots in different countries, we have a deep tradition of respect for individual differences, which has been core to our success for more than 170 years. The ongoing cultivation of an inclusive, diverse and equitable culture are essential to our continued growth. We are committed to sustaining a respectful environment in which all employees—regardless of socioeconomic status, race, ethnicity, nationality, religion, gender, gender expression, sexual orientation, physical abilities, veteran or military status—can bring their authentic selves to work and maximize their individual potential as well as our collective success.

We are focused on creating a culture where people are able to capitalize on their differentiated experiences and perspectives. It is crucial that they not only feel free to share their point of view but understand that it is expected and valued. Inclusion, diversity, equity and allyship go hand-in-hand and without each, we may not be able to retain our top talent.

This year Lazard welcomed George Okrah as Senior Vice President of Diversity and Inclusion. George brings substantial experience and will partner with us to strengthen our focus across the firm on creating an ever-more diverse and inclusive culture.

Throughout our history, we have demonstrated and committed to providing equal opportunities in all aspects of employment. Our policies and culture ensure that our people are recruited based on talent and experience, rewarded appropriately and can develop personally and professionally. We do not tolerate any form of discrimination or harassment in the workplace. We strive to ensure that all of our policies, including those related to workplace diversity and compensation, are designed with fairness in mind. To support women at all levels, the Lazard’s Women’s Leadership Network (LWLN) serves as a forum to share experiences and best practices and is a resource for women, to accelerate their success through mentorship, education and sponsorship opportunities. Diversity Education & Training
We develop our people in an environment of learning, respect and dignity. We offer diversity and inclusion learning programs to provide the language, tools and resources for our employees to recognize unconscious bias, appreciate cultural and racial views, and create allyship. As part of our commitment to an engaging and welcoming workplace, learning events are hosted with expert moderators and Town Halls with senior leadership serve as a platform for employees to engage on topical issues. In addition, our employee affinity groups lead discussions on current events, social issues, and personal experiences. Through education and conversation, we hope to contribute to a more inclusive environment in the workplace and the world.

MEANINGFUL PERFORMANCE FEEDBACK

Through a collaborative and dynamic performance management cycle focused on annual goals and individual development, the firm works to support our employees’ success in their role and continuous growth. For the most comprehensive and insightful perspective, professionals are evaluated through 360-degree performance reviews that solicit broad input from peers, direct reports, and managers. Additionally, embedded in our employee performance reviews is a component which evaluates the quality of corporate citizenship and any team-oriented and/or inclusive behaviors that have been demonstrated in the workplace.

LISTENING TO OUR EMPLOYEES

To meet our goals and support our employees, we consistently engage with employees to understand their priorities, concerns and recommendations for improving the firm. We value our employee’s feedback and we rely on their candor as we assess our goals and strategy as a firm. In 2020, we conducted three engagement surveys and received more than 8,500 comments letting us know employees’ thoughts and ideas.
Discovering Our Future Leaders

We seek to identify candidates who can capitalize on their expertise and experience to contribute to better decision-making for our clients.

In our recruiting efforts, we proactively seek individuals who are highly talented and culturally enriching. We use a combination of formal and informal outreach programs to attract a diverse mix of uniquely talented and authentic people who we believe will make positive contributions to our firm and the broader community. Our diversity program is designed to improve the likelihood that people with differentiated backgrounds and perspectives are among the candidates we consider for any role.

Our undergraduate campus recruiting includes focused efforts on recruiting women and underrepresented groups through club sponsorships and partnerships. At the campus level, we build relationships with colleges and student organizations that support and advise underrepresented groups, including Howard University, Spelman College, Moorehouse College and other HBCUs, The Duke Association for Business Oriented Women, Out 4 Undergrad and Smart Women Securities. In early 2020, Lazard Financial Advisory in London hosted 80 students from secondary schools across the city for a day of interactive networking sessions to educate and inspire students to explore careers within banking. We also support the Forté Foundation, a non-profit promoting the advancement and equal treatment of women in professional careers.

LAZARD FOUNDATION SPOTLIGHT

The Lazard Foundation partners with non-profit organizations in the U.S. that support education for children, adolescents, and adults by providing a financial contribution and volunteer opportunities.

Isabella Calvo, Lazard Foundation, shares some highlights of the Foundation during 2020.

What is the focus of the Foundation?

Lazard conducted an employee survey to identify personal philanthropic interests that would guide the formation of our U.S. charitable foundation. Based on employee feedback, the Foundation initially established its mandate to support organizations that focus on education in our communities. The Foundation directly reflects the interests of our employees beyond their professional roles at Lazard.

How does Lazard best serve local communities?

While the Foundation supports our partners financially, colleagues across the country donate their time and expertise to make a positive difference. Tutoring, facilitating mock interviews with first generation college students, and providing necessities and supplies to families and children in need are a few ways Lazard employees engage. Our offerings provide leadership opportunities for our employees to mentor and improve the lives of people most in need. Through these efforts, we build relationships, cultivate teamwork and shape local communities.

How did the Foundation pivot its priorities in 2020?

The Foundation is young and there is so much potential for growth and creativity in the way that we serve communities. Last year was a challenging year in many ways, with the pandemic and increased conversations on racial justice and structural equity. The Foundation provided relief and amplified support for our partners. It was also important that our employees working from home felt engaged and connected to Lazard. 2020 heightened our call to action and we established a more proactive approach to societal issues.

What are some meaningful contributions made by the Foundation?

The Lazard Foundation made significant donations to Feeding America and the NAACP Legal Defense And Education Fund in response to the pandemic and racial/structural equity, respectively. Throughout the year, U.S. employees donated to a variety of non-profit organizations that they believe will make a positive difference. Even in the remote working environment, our people continued to give and volunteer their time and resources.
SUSTAINABLE INVESTING
Lazard’s sustainable investing philosophy stems from a belief that long-term structural changes such as globalization, social inequality and climate change present financial risks and opportunities to both benefit our clients and promote a more sustainable future.

Lazard is committed to providing clients with innovative solutions, superior risk-adjusted investment performance, and exceptional service. As a global investor, we have a deep understanding and appreciation of the complex relationships and increasing feedback loops between business, industry, society, and the environment. We believe it is our responsibility to incorporate an assessment of material environmental and social issues, as well as the quality of governance practices, into our investment research and analysis.

COLLECTIVE RESPONSIBILITY
As a research-driven organization, we see our biggest strength as our ability to cross-pollinate the knowledge of our subject matter experts across the firm in an organized and purposeful way, and draw value from their integrated insights.

IMPACTFUL OWNERSHIP
As active managers, we are committed to fully exercising our role as stewards of capital. This entails providing our clients with customized sustainability solutions that meet their evolving needs and leading purposeful engagements with companies and sovereigns and outcome-oriented voting.

CONTINUOUS INNOVATION
While we have long been committed to sustainable investing and ESG integration, it is important to recognize how quickly the field is evolving. This is why we continue to innovate and collaborate, both within our firm and the wider industry. We seek to support initiatives that promote wider adoption of sustainable investment practices through better standards and increased transparency.
Our 250+ investment professionals are responsible for incorporating sustainability related risk and opportunity assessments into their work.

Communication and collaboration through our global research platform enhances market insights and the cross-pollination of ideas. Our sustainability approach is fundamental, integrated and forward-looking, creating a differentiated view from standardized ratings, and explicitly linked to performance and compensation assessments.

At Lazard Asset Management, we see the integration of human and natural capital assessment as the bedrock for sustainable investment.

The materiality of sustainability considerations is highly contextual. Our own journey has shown us that it can be sector specific, regional, or entirely idiosyncratic. To better assess materiality and understand how sustainability considerations may impact financial performance, we developed a process that is rigorous, but not rigid, and allows our investment professionals to identify and analyze the issues most pertinent to their securities, sectors, regions and portfolios.

Our analysts use bottom-up fundamental analysis skills to navigate the complex investment landscape. They develop differentiated perspectives on their sectors helping them to prioritize topics for engagement with company management.
We offer a spectrum of sustainable investment focused products to cater to our clients varying needs.

CONNECTED INTELLIGENCE, MEANINGFUL COLLABORATION

“Dragonfly”: Proprietary digital macro discussion board connects our investment community in real time, allowing a platform to discuss, share, and debate trending topics.
Lazard’s approach to stewardship is built on granular, in-depth knowledge of a company and its operating environment. A key component of our strategy is investing the time to understand how a company’s activities intersect with significant structural shifts underway in today’s dynamic society. As active managers, we undertake purposeful engagements with company managements and Boards of Directors to address sustainability imperatives.

Our regular engagements with companies and sovereigns on human and natural capital issues are informed by our proprietary materiality mapping frameworks that help our analysts and portfolio managers prioritize the human and natural capital issues that are most relevant to the long-term financial success of a company. The responsibility for all company engagements rests directly with our investment professionals. We consider this an important differentiator as we believe that shareholder engagement is most effective when it is undertaken directly by the analysts and portfolio managers actively making the investment decisions.

HUMAN CAPITAL

FOCUS ON COVID-19

When engaging with companies, we consider the management of human capital a key priority to the sustainability of the business and a strategic imperative for better value creation and long-term financial returns. Following the outbreak of COVID-19, our investment professionals engaged with boards and senior management to understand how they were managing and supporting employees during the crisis. In our view, investing in the health and safety of human lives protects human capital and shareholder value.

Case Study: Fair Treatment of Employees

We engaged in multiple meetings with an American diversified media company and encouraged management to maintain pay for hourly workers during closure. Following our communication and engagement, management paid employees and continued medical coverage. We believe this will strengthen employee incentive to return to more normal working patterns and we will continue to engage as the pandemic restrictions progress.

NATURAL CAPITAL

CLIMATE CHANGE

Climate change is a defining issue of our time. We recognize the importance of engagement with company executives and boards on climate change issues, particularly where we believe that physical or transition risks could materially impact a company’s long-term financial performance. In cases where Lazard’s analysts identify opportunities for purposeful, outcome-oriented engagement, we use our deep fundamental understanding of the industry and business models to help effect change.

Case Study: Protecting biodiversity related to palm oil production

We encouraged one of the largest users of palm oil in Brazil to join the Roundtable in Sustainable Palm Oil (RSPO), which it did in 2017. At year end 2020, 30% of its small farm suppliers use sustainable farming techniques, with a goal of 100% by 2030.
2020 ENGAGEMENT AND PROXY VOTING

We proactively engage with company management in order to assess long-term shareholder value.

We believe that stewardship should be conducted by analysts and portfolio managers so that voting and engagement decisions are consistent with investment rationales. We see this as an important differentiator as we believe shareholder and bondholder engagement is more effective when undertaken directly by the analysts and portfolio managers that own the companies or sovereign bonds in their portfolios. As active managers we are able to fully and continuously incorporate the insights from our activities into our investment decisions.

Our investment professionals regularly meet with management and directors to better understand a company’s business strategy, use of shareholder capital and ESG practices. Our proxy voting structure is designed to ensure that our proxy votes are cast in our clients’ best interests and that we actively address conflicts of interest. We believe that as a fiduciary, we must vote proxies in ways we believe will maximize shareholder value. As such, our vote may not always coincide with management recommendations.

We believe that investors increasingly want to allocate their capital in line with their core values.

We also believe that investors have the opportunity and responsibility to use the power of their capital to influence company behavior through engagement to drive sustainable change.

Marina Leacock, Portfolio Manager/Analyst on Lazard’s Minerva Gender Diversity strategy, discusses how allocating capital to businesses with high gender diversity can lead to higher investment returns.

Why is diversity relevant to investors? Organizations thrive on innovation. It is well understood that higher Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (DE&I) maximizes talent and reduces groupthink, which ultimately leads to better decision making. From a sustainability perspective, diverse companies tend to have stronger corporate governance and higher ESG credentials. Overall, this supports higher levels of business performance and robust economic and social development.

In 2020, McKinsey calculated that companies in the top quartile of gender diversity on Executive teams were 25% more likely to have above average profitability than peer companies in the fourth quartile. For racial/ethnic diversity, this probability was 36%. As DE&I improves the quality of a business, it is no surprise that research suggests a strong correlation between DE&I and enhanced financial productivity and shareholder returns. Despite this, women remain hugely underrepresented in the most senior corporate and political leadership positions and progress in correcting this has been glacial. In 2020, the World Economic Forum estimated that at the current rate of progress, it would take 257 years to close the economic gender gap.

How is Lazard’s Minerva Gender Diversity investment strategy? Minerva is an active global equity strategy that invests in companies with sustainably high financial productivity and a clear and demonstrable commitment to gender equality. Our purpose is to deliver strong investment returns for our clients and promote gender equality. Through active engagement, we aim to accelerate the pace of change to create a more equitable and economically stronger world for future generations.

How do you integrate a gender lens into your investment process? We invest in companies that truly value DE&I as a strategic driver for their business and empower women throughout their organization. To achieve this, we take a holistic approach to our diversity research and engagement that goes far beyond counting women in senior leadership. We analyze the granularity of companies’ diversity representation throughout the whole organization, their policies and the level of management and board accountability. We also analyze how companies amplify their impact outside their organization through their products and services, supply chains and the communities they serve. It is this in-depth research that unveils what is really going on inside a business and why we think active managers are best placed for gender lens investing.

How has active engagement led to change? We have been told by companies with which we engage that we are the first investors to question them about DE&I. Purposeful engagements can act as a catalyst for positive change. We look for progress in the companies with which we engage that push for continuous improvement. We stress the importance of DE&I to us as a firm and to our clients. Given our long investment horizon and low turnover, we develop a partnership with management and share our insights of best practice globally. We aim to have real impact through our engagements and active ownership and strive to accelerate the pace of change to gender equality.
Lazard is a signatory or member of several organizations that inform our responsible investing. We embrace our collective responsibility to address generational challenges in collaboration and cooperation with other industry participants.

Lazard is one of the first U.S.-based asset managers to join the Net Zero Asset Managers Initiative, a group of global asset managers that commit to support the goal of net-zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050, in line with global efforts to limit warming to 1.5°C. Delivering on this commitment includes prioritizing emissions reductions within the sectors and companies in which we invest.

BUSINESS ETHICS
Our reputation for excellence is the foundation of our business and our success begins with responsible employees.

Lazard is committed to the highest standards of business principles and ethics. Compliance therefore is not just procedural; it is a critical component of our culture and contributes to our delivery of the highest quality service to our clients and results to our shareholders. We strive to attract and retain fair, honest, educated and prudent employees, whom we guide with carefully designed policies and procedures that define the way we conduct business. We educate our employees to act in accordance with the values and ethics we espouse as a firm; in every aspect of our business, acting with integrity is ingrained in our corporate culture. We invest in resources to provide controls for risk management, compliance and audit that enable our employees to operate efficiently within the boundaries of acceptable conduct. Oversight is conducted by our global Legal & Compliance, Human Resources, Internal Audit and other departments, operating throughout Lazard’s offices, which all ultimately report to Lazard’s executive officers. Our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, posted on our public website, clearly defines standards that apply to our global employees. The Code sets out essential, guiding principles for workplace conduct, compliance with applicable laws and regulations, anti-discrimination, conflicts of interest, and workplace health and safety, among others. In addition, our professionals participate in compliance training sessions that address our policies, requirements, and the consequences of failure to comply. Lazard uses these training sessions to demonstrate the practical application of judgment and highlight areas where ethical issues can arise. We use these training sessions and real-world examples to convey to employees that raising concerns is a collective responsibility. Our Legal and Compliance department provides training and discussion for business ethics, compliance and reporting with oversight from our Board through regular updates and discussions. Every year our professionals reaffirm their commitment to our compliance policies and procedures. Lazard’s compliance manuals, applicable to our businesses around the world, summarize the applicable laws, rules, regulations and firm policies and serve as a resource for employees. In addition, Lazard distributes various other manuals concerning specific areas of the firm’s business or operations. All employees are expected to be familiar with the contents of the manuals applicable to their business activities and act accordingly, seeking assistance from the Legal and Compliance department as needed. We also maintain systems that enhance oversight of our business activities and their compliance with our standards. For example, we utilize electronic systems to monitor personal securities trading and electronic communications for impermissible activities. At Lazard, we strive for the highest standards of business ethics and personal accountability, and we take corrective action as necessary to ensure adherence with these standards.
ETHICS AND COMPLIANCE PROGRAM

The integration of risk management, business ethics and regulatory compliance are cornerstones of our conduct.

Our business principles are intended to create a culture of transparency, awareness and personal responsibility through education, collaboration, monitoring and reporting. Our employees adhere to record-keeping requirements as applicable that accurately reflect the business of the firm. We have a framework for escalation and remediation which is communicated across the firm. Our employees are trained and educated on applicable laws and regulation addressing Anti-bribery and corruption, anti-money laundering, know your customer, economic sanctions, facilitation payments, and terrorist financing. Our managers are responsible for providing clear direction and setting the tone of responsible business conduct in accordance with these standards.

ANTI-CORRUPTION POLICIES Lazard’s strong culture of compliance reflects the importance we place on performing to the best of our abilities while adhering to appropriate standards of conduct and all applicable legal and regulatory frameworks. Lazard recognizes the risks that corrupt practices can pose to our business and has established policies addressing fair dealing, gifts and entertainment, and impermissible payments and gratuities, among other matters. These elements of Lazard’s compliance program are addressed at annual training sessions.

ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING POLICY Lazard maintains Anti-Money Laundering (AML) policies across its businesses and “Know-Your- Customer” (KYC) identification procedures to facilitate the identification and confirmation of prospective clients, and to establish reasonable steps to detect and prevent potential money laundering activities. Lazard has designated AML compliance officers across its businesses who are responsible for updating their AML and KYC procedures and reviewing and analyzing potential suspicious activity. The AML compliance officers periodically arrange for a bi-annual independent review of Lazard’s AML policy and procedures. Lazard’s Legal and Compliance department annually trains employees and provides AML policies and materials, as appropriate.

CORPORATE POLITICAL ACTIVITY Lazard does not permit political contributions on the firm’s behalf in the United States at the federal, state or local levels to candidates, political party committees, ballot committees or political action committees. Our employees may voluntarily seek to assist individuals running for political office. Lazard maintains specific procedures for reporting political activity and contributions. Lazard’s employees may voluntarily make political contributions to individuals, political action committees and/or other political causes. However, employees are required to abide by strict political contribution policies and pre-approval requirements informed by both federal and state regulation prior to making such contributions.

WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION Lazard encourages all employees to speak with management, the Legal and Compliance department, the Human Resources department and/or other appropriate personnel about any suspected illegal or unethical behavior, or any suspected discrimination or harassment in the workplace. Lazard strictly prohibits retaliation or any other penalty or adverse action against any individual for reporting in good faith any suspected violation of law, ethics, Firm policy or the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, no matter whom the report concerns, or for participating in an investigation of any such report.
RISK MANAGEMENT Lazard’s risk management framework is designed to ensure the reduction and mitigation of business and financial risk within the global market in which we operate. Risk management and protection is embedded throughout our company, integrated in both our investment research and valuation processes, and in our Financial Advisory services. We monitor and address risks through a system of internal controls, management systems, organizational structures, audit processes, compliance programs and a variety of other standards and policies. In Asset Management, we employ three separate levels of risk management oversight: (1) Portfolio Managers monitor portfolio risks on a real-time basis, (2) the Global Risk Management team regularly reviews all strategies, positions, sector and country allocations with quantitative tools, and (3) the Compliance Department reviews transactions and guidelines. Our Board, working together with the Audit Committee, undertakes a comprehensive review of Lazard’s risk profile and risk management strategies at regular intervals. Members of Lazard’s finance team, led by the Chief Financial Officer, and the Head of Risk Management, review with the Audit Committee categories of risk we face, including any concentrations, interrelationships, and financial and cyber exposures. The controls that Lazard has designed to address many of those risks are subject to review by Lazard’s internal audit team through a formal audit program as well as ad hoc reviews. The Global Head of Internal Audit reports to the Audit Committee quarterly. The Audit Committee reviews risks deemed material at regular meetings and reports such risks to the Board.

DUE DILIGENCE We evaluate clients prior to providing investment management or advisory services and may conduct periodic reviews over the lifetime of the client’s relationship. We screen clients and transactions for evidence of illegal activity, civil, criminal or tax-related penalties, sanctions, embargoes, or negative media references. We monitor our business relationships for any change of circumstances which may warrant further investigation. As part of our compliance efforts we monitor client transactions for potential suspicious activity. Lazard maintains policies and procedures designed to identify and properly report suspicious transactions. Employees are responsible for recognizing suspicious business behavior concerning the nature of a transaction and have an obligation to take appropriate steps to report such conduct to the Chief Compliance Officer.

INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS Lazard maintains policies and procedures designed to ensure compliance with economic sanctions administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control of the U.S. Department of the Treasury and other applicable global sanctions that could potentially impact Lazard’s financial advisory and investment advisory services on behalf of clients. Lazard’s Legal and Compliance department coordinates closely with financial advisory and investment professionals, as well as with outside legal counsel, to understand the potential application of such international sanctions programs to Lazard’s businesses.
The protection and security of sensitive information in each of Lazard’s offices and business lines worldwide is an essential aspect of our business strategy and embedded in our culture.

Discretion and ethical behavior of each of our employees with respect to Lazard’s assets, clients, business partners and other stakeholders allows us to carry out our advisory services efficiently and safely. Business growth, technology innovation and increased electronic activity are dramatically reshaping the cybersecurity landscape. The potential consequences of a data security breach impact financial, regulatory and reputational risk. Lazard makes significant investments in information technology that are designed to secure our information and enable the operations of our business, while simultaneously protecting against cyber threats. Our cloud-based platform and infrastructure are built to support firm-wide data and analytics initiatives. We enhanced our data security with an advanced Bring Your Own Key (BYOK) customer-managed permission vault. This technical innovation reduces our physical storage footprint while providing multi-level encryption for personally identifiable information.

Our global Information Technology department, in conjunction with our global Information Security department, implements comprehensive internal training, monitoring and reporting practices with respect to information security in order to safeguard the interests of our clients, employees and other stakeholders. In many instances, we utilize technology solutions and third-party auditors to assess and confirm compliance with our policies and standards, as well as applicable laws and regulations. Our global Information Security department also identifies our employees’ roles and responsibilities with respect to data protection and security and provides training to our employees regarding information security protocols and practices. The Technology department ensures disaster recovery to promptly recover lost data in an emergency event. Our Information Security and Information Technology departments report consistently to the Risk Committee, Audit Committee, and Board of Directors to keep management informed on Lazard’s risk exposure and provide perspective on the current cybersecurity landscape.

To further evaluate sustainability from a client perspective, Lazard established an ESG Working Group consisting of business leaders and subject-matter expertise from across the firm.

This year, we formalized our efforts to advance our own sustainability profile by appointing Alexandra Deignan as Head of Corporate Sustainability to oversee the firm’s initiatives and reporting of our environmental, social and governance efforts. This new role underscores our corporate commitment to aligning sustainability with our businesses and values of our all our stakeholders and reinforces our belief in sustainability as a driver of long-term value.

PRUDENT APPROACH TO COMPENSATION PRACTICES

Lazard’s compensation decisions are a reflection of employee performance aligned with our strategic and operational performance.

We strive to create a culture that fosters excellence, collaboration, innovation, empowerment, inclusion, and engagement. Our Compensation Committee reviews compensation programs for consistency and alignment with our strategic goals, and has full authority to determine and approve the compensation of the CEO and senior executives. In general, we compensate employees with competitive salaries and discretionary bonus structures, which are determined quantitatively and qualitatively—while ensuring that compensation levels do not consider race or gender. We believe that talented individuals are attracted to, and remain with, the firm because Lazard’s compensation structure rewards strong performance in a consistent manner. Lazard compensation includes equity awards, including performance-based awards for executive management, to further align employee interests with long-term value creation for all shareholders. This practice highlights our commitment to creating and maintaining long-term value for all our shareholders. We believe that our people are our most important asset. Their talent, integrity and engagement have shaped our success in the past and they are instrumental to our ability to achieve sustainable growth and deliver value for our shareholders in the future.

"WE HAVE ARTICULATED FINANCIAL GOALS TO OUR SHAREHOLDERS, INCLUDING OUR OPERATING MARGIN, INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES AND RETURN OF CAPITAL STRATEGY. THE ACHIEVEMENT OF OUR PERFORMANCE METRICS ULTIMATELY DETERMINES OUR COMPENSATION LEVELS."

— Evan Russo, Chief Financial Officer

PHILOSOPHY

• Retain and attract talent
• Structured decision-making
• Commitment to compensation governance
• Pay for performance
• Pay with long-term forward looking equity awards
• Pay with performance “at risk” awards
• Maintain compensation discipline
• Consistency on deferred compensation

PAY EQUITY AND EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

• Clear policies and procedures enforce our commitment to diversity, equal pay for equal work, and a safe, inclusive workplace.
• Our policies prohibit discrimination based on age, gender, sexual orientation, affiliation to an ethnic group, nationality, religion or belief, marital status, pregnancy, disability or other circumstances or other diverse identities.
• All employment and promotion decisions are made on the basis of job-related criteria, recognizing the principle of equal employment opportunity.
• We conduct pay equity reviews globally at all levels to ensure that individuals with similar roles and responsibilities are receiving comparable wages, with bonuses determined on the merits of their performance.
Proactive communication and collaboration with stakeholders is an integral part of Lazard’s corporate governance and management processes.

We regularly collaborate with our broad range of stakeholders through both formal and informal channels and value feedback regarding our business performance, corporate governance processes, policies and practices. Primary stakeholders include our clients, employees, shareholders, and the local communities in which we operate.

We engage with our stakeholders in various ways, including one-on-one meetings, investor conferences, internal Town Halls, quarterly earnings calls, annual meeting of shareholders, employee surveys and social media interaction, and others. Through these engagements, we develop an understanding of the issues relevant to our stakeholders, our industry and the global marketplace. Additionally, these engagements provide stakeholders with an opportunity to consider issues concerning our strategy and share their perspectives.

In 2020, given the restrictions due to the COVID-19 pandemic, our shareholder engagement transitioned to a virtual format and continued at a steady pace. We hosted approximately 200 investor meetings throughout the year, consistent with the prior year. Our strong foundation of shareholder engagement has resulted in a history of implementing changes over the years based on shareholder feedback, such as recently implementing a tenure policy for independent directors that enhances Board refreshment by limiting independent directors to serving four complete terms (in addition to any partial term), and making significant enhancements to the performance metrics applicable to our NEOs in order to better align their compensation with shareholder benefits.

RAINWATER HARVESTING & GREENERY

Our Lazard Fund Managers’ office in Dublin transitioned to 100% green energy

In 2020 Lazard inaugurated its new Financial Advisory office in Paris, France. The architecture and layout have been designed to encourage new, more collaborative and cross functional working practices, as well as innovation and creativity.
The scope of our environmental footprint principally derives from two main sources: energy usage in our offices and employee travel. In this report, we have estimated our GHG emissions from our leased office space (S1 and S2), and employee travel (S3) where information is available from third-party business partners.

In 2020, we have updated our GHG emissions to include our indirect emissions from investments in portfolio companies in Assets Under Management (AUM).

ENGAGE

Our employees volunteer their talents and knowledge to establish initiatives and drive year-on-year progress in sustainability efforts.

TRANSPARENCY

Lazard is one of the first U.S.-based asset managers to join the Net Zero Asset Managers Initiative, a group of global asset managers that commit to support the goal of net-zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050.

Lazard’s internal travel booking system conveys to employees the amount of CO\textsubscript{2} per flight which allows Lazard to monitor and measure the total emissions from employee air travel, one of our biggest sources of carbon emissions.
